Turin, Nov. 6. N. S.

THE Enemy having laid aſide their Deſign to return into Piedmont, which is become impracticable, by reaſon of the Seaſon being ſo far advanced, part of the Troops that were ſent into the Valley of Aouſta, to guard the Paſſes on that ſide, will ſhortly march from thence to the Milaneſe, to aſſiſt in reducing thoſe few Places in that Dutchy and its Dependencies that remain in the Enemy's Hands. Our Duke has cauſed Cazal to be inveſted by a Detachment of his Troops; but the Weather of late has been ſo rainy, that his Royal Highneſs is obliged to defer the beſieging of it in Form to a better Opportunity. The ſame Reaſon detains Prince Eugene with the Army under his Command at Alexandria, who intends, as ſoon as the Seaſon becomes more favourable, to attack Valenza; and in the mean time has ſent a ſmall Body of his Forces to block up that Place. The Trenches and other Works which the Enemy had caſt up before this City during the late Siege are quite levelled, and we are now repairing the Damage they have done to our Fortifications. They write from Milan, That the Prince of Heſſe-Caſſell was come thither, and Prince Eugene was ſhortly expected there.

Paris, Nov. 22. N. S. Our Miniſtry are daily in Conference, to conſult upon the Means of providing Men and Money in order to carry on the War the next Year, in which they meet with very great Difficulties. Several Projects have been laid before them upon this Subject; in one of which it is propoſed, that all Perſons of Quality and others ſhall be obliged to leſſen their Equipage; that all the Men Servants they can ſpare ſhall be ſent into the Army; and that the Clergy, Nobility and other Perſons, who have any Plate, ſhall be obliged to bring it to the Mint to be coined. The Diſorders in Trade, occaſioned by the Paper Credit, increaſing daily, Monſieur Chamillard had lately a Meeting with ſeveral of our moſt eminent Merchants, to ask their Opinions concerning the Means of retrieving the Credit of the Money-Bills; but he is not yet come to any Reſolution in this Matter. A great Council of War is ſhortly to be held at Verſailles, for ſettling Meaſures againſt the next Campaign. Several of our General Officers are already arrived here from their reſpective Commands, in order to be preſent at it, and others are daily expected.
